The CROWN STIRRUP

LYNDHURST

The Crown Stirrup Pub was formerly a cottage built in the 1500s.

When the pub first opened it was known as Ye Olde Crown Stirrup, also know as The Crown and Stirrup.

The name refers back to the old iron stirrup which was used by the Verderers to measure the size of local dogs in the era of King William Rufus. If the dog was small enough to fit through the stirrup it was deemed harmless to the deers.
